

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method for detecting a site of interest in a gastrointestinal tract, wherein the method includes sensing a length traveled by a sensor in a gastrointestinal tract from a reference point to a site of interest in the gastrointestinal tract.